

Ancient Hungarian Horntail Adversaries and Dragons

27 September 2021

Adversary Event

Intro

Constance

SOS Task Force agents are reporting a new surge of Ancient Hungarian Horntail Adversaries, along with an increase in dragon Oddities.

Hermione

If Adversary surges are continuing even after Gareth Greengrass' death, it's safe to assume he was telling the truth about not being responsible for the past few attacks.

Constance

Then who's behind these latest attacks? Another member of The Unforgivable hoping to pick up where Gareth left off?

Harry

No, Gareth created Adversaries to throw us off his scent and conceal his true intentions. He admitted that he wanted us to believe someone was interested in bringing back the Death Eaters, when, in reality, his motivations were purely practical.

Whoever is manipulating the Calamity now is different. I get the feeling they have other plans for Adversaries... plans that I fear are even more sinister.

End

Hermione

Harry, have you received any snippets of memories since we first detained Gareth?

Harry

Come to think of it... no. Do you reckon that was when someone else took control of Adversary attacks?

Hermione

That's my theory, yes. Both events line up too perfectly to be a coincidence.

Harry

I wonder why Gareth's memories leaked through but our mysterious new culprit's haven't. Could they be an Occlumens?

Hermione

Or they were privy to the fact that memory leaks were happening to Gareth and took steps to prevent it. Possibly both.
